for Cancer Patients

Acadian Health collaborates with your team to offer at-home acute care management for cancer patients. Home cancer treatment can replace facility-based care and improve the patient and clinician experiences, improve health system efficiency, and enhance experiences and outcomes.

HOW WE WORK

We provide assurance and support to cancer patients when they experience a side effect of cancer care or an exacerbation of their chronic condition.

When requested by a patient or a provider, Acadian Health will send a Mobile Health provider to a patient's location. Our providers can treat exacerbations of cancer-related symptoms, offer pain management, administer treatment infusions, or provide palliative and supportive care.

We ensure patients are connected to and engaged with a provider. We are able to include a member of the patient's care team via telehealth during each visit to improve relationships with providers and coordination of care.

Working with Acadian Health provides substantial savings for patients, providers and health plans. Acadian Health has used partner data to demonstrate approximately $5 million a year in saving per 1,000 patients encounters.

Acadian HEALTH

MOST COMMON DIAGNOSES THAT WE TREAT

- Uncontrolled pain
- Nausea/vomiting/dehydration
- Adult failure to thrive
- Neutropenic fever or infection
- Acute hypoxia
- Non-surgical bowel obstruction
- Chronic Disease Exacerbation

PROGRAM BENEFITS

We help to reduce preventable ED visits and hospitalizations, improve a patient's quality of life during their cancer treatment, and reduce overall charges.
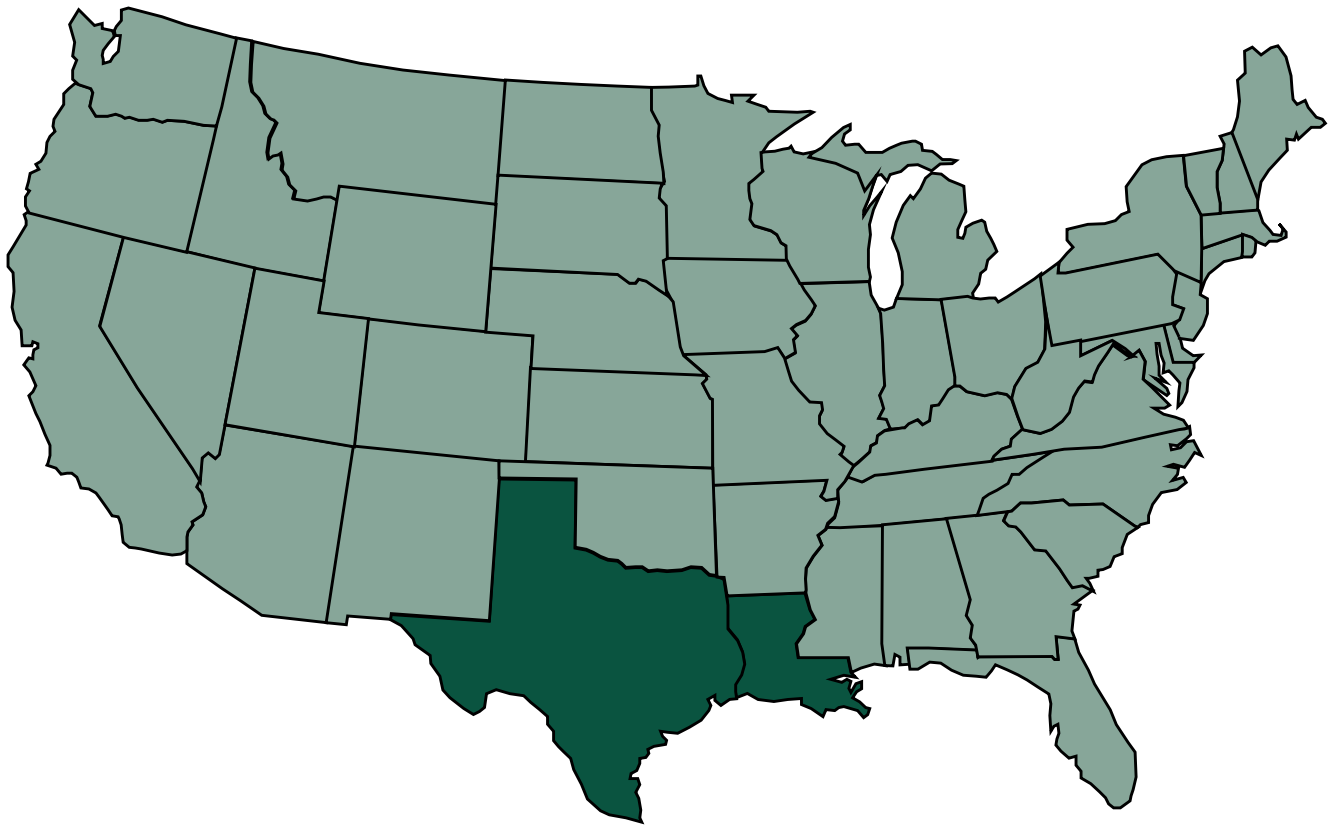

Patients receiving care at home are able to avoid exposure to infection and illness while receiving facility-based care. Caregivers also benefit from having a provider come to the home instead of traveling to care.

Acadian Health works to ensure a positive experience and outcome for your patient so they can remain at home and comfortable.
